

CalArts 07/08
School of Theater

Residence Requirements

The four-year Bachelor of Fine Arts and Certificate of Fine Arts Programs in Performance requires a minimum of four years full-time study. Master of Fine Arts and Advanced Certificate of Fine Arts programs in Performance and Directing require a minimum of three years full-time study. The four-year Bachelor of Fine Arts and Certificate of Fine Arts program in Design and Production requires a minimum of three years full-time study and the three-year Master of Fine Arts and Advanced Certificate of Fine Arts in Design and Production require a minimum of two years full-time study.

Curriculum Requirements

I. Bachelor of Fine Arts and Certificate of Fine Arts

Bachelor of Fine Arts degree candidates must complete forty-six semester units of Critical Studies coursework; Certificate of Fine Arts candidates do not complete Critical Studies courses. All other requirements for the Certificate of Fine Arts are identical to those for the BFA. Critical Studies requirements are detailed in the Critical Studies section of the Course Catalog.

Students must complete the program of study approved by the mentor and the student, which will include the required courses specified in the School of Theater Course Requirements section of this Course Catalog and comprise a minimum of 120 units.

Students must successfully complete a Mid-Residence and a Graduation Review. Details regarding review procedures and scheduling are available in the Theater School office or from the Institute Review Coordinator.

II. Master of Fine Arts and Advanced Certificate of Fine Arts

Students must complete the program of studies approved by the mentor and the student, which will include the required courses specified in the School of Theater Course Requirements section of this Course Catalog and comprise a minimum of 60 units.

Students must successfully complete a Mid-Residence and a Graduation Review. Details regarding review procedures and scheduling are available in the Theater School office and from the Institute Review Coordinator.

III. Independent Theater Track

During a student's career in the School of Theater, at either undergraduate or graduate levels, mentors may recommend that a student might be eligible for the Independent Theater Track. This recommendation is based on the mentor's evaluation of the student's work, strengths and interests. The recommendation is then forwarded to the full faculty for its approval. Following this track is an option for highly motivated and disciplined students who the faculty believes would benefit from a broader range of study. This is an upper division track and acceptance is by invitation only. Selection is made prior to the mid-residence review for undergraduates, and before the end of the first year for graduate students. There is neither recruitment nor auditioning for it. Each student's curriculum will be individually designed, based on a written proposal and outline of courses. Requirements for graduation with a BFA are four years and a minimum of 120 units, of which 46 must be in Critical Studies. For the three-year MFA, a minimum of 60 units is required.

IV. Integrated Media Curriculum

The core requirements in the curriculum will consist of

- Integrated Media seminars and critiques and
- specified courses in the student's program of entry. In addition to these core requirements, students will be expected to take electives, chosen from a wide-ranging list of courses currently offered throughout the Institute. The normal length of the course of study is two to three years.

V. Mid-Residence Review

Students must successfully complete a mid-residence review at the end of the second semester (MFA) or the fourth semester (BFA). Students who are not invited to continue in a program as a result of not passing their review may have the option of applying to another program or school of the Institute, or may, in some cases, be recommended for the Independent Theater Track. The third option is to pursue their studies at another institution.

Undergraduate and Graduate Theater Independent Study

II. Directing Program (Graduate Only)

The program in Directing is offered at the graduate level only. Course requirements for the Master of Fine Arts or Advanced Certificate of Fine Arts are:

T 511	Directing Lab
T 521	Directing Seminar
T 860	Collage
T 862	Special Topics in Directing
T 950	Directing Thesis Project
T 700	Acting Studio
TP801D	Design Methodology
TP810	Performance by Design
T 820/821	Transforming Text
T 562	Graduate Performance Analysis
T 560	Graduate Play Analysis
T 888	Playwright's Lab I

Additional classes to be determined in consultation with the mentor.

III. Writing for Performance (Graduate Only)

T 880	Writing for Performance I
T 881	Writing for Performance II
T 882	Playwright's Salon (every semester)
T 888	Playwright's Lab I (every semester)
T 890	Playwright's Thesis Project
T 820	Transforming Text I
TP810	Performance by Design
T 862	Special Topics in Directing (Cinematic Elixirs)
T 500	MFA-1Acting Studio
T 560	Graduate Play Analysis
T 562	Graduate Performance Analysis

Critical Studies Electives selected in consultation with the mentor.

IV. Puppetry Track

T 820/821	Transforming Text
T 445A	Graduate Performance Analysis
T 560	Graduate Play Analysis
TP810	Performance by Design
T 825	Independent Projects in Puppetry (2 semesters)
T 090	Production
T 829	Performing Object Laboratory

A minimum of 4 other puppetry classes

Also required for all levels: Participation in all guest artist lectures or workshops.

Electives: selected in consultation with the mentor

Suggested Electives:

Techniques of Design
Design Methodology
Open Dress
Costume Techniques
Light Lab
Sound Lab
Prop or Scenic classes
Life Drawing, other Art classes
Producing and Management classes
Dance, Film, Video, Art, Music courses
Interdisciplinary courses
Critical Studies courses

V. Design and Production Programs

Bachelor of Fine Arts and Certificate of Fine Arts

There is a common core curriculum for all Design and Production undergraduate students. In addition to the Core, each of the areas of specialization has specific requirements, which are detailed on the following pages. Students are encouraged to fulfill their elective credits from courses throughout the Institute as a means of accomplishing their particular goals or exploring related interests.

Note: Classes marked with a * denote those with Critical Studies credit.

Core Curriculum:

T 005 The Theater*
TP090 Production

Three of four semesters of theater history and dramaturgy:
CS178A Survey of World Theater-Text*
CS178B Survey of World Theater-Visual - Seeing is Believing*
CS179A Survey of World Theater-Cultural *
CS179B Survey of World Theater-Performance Styles*

Costume Design:

Metier Requirements:

TP100 BFA-1 Design Studio
TP214 Architectural Styles *
TP604 Costume Techniques I
TP605 Costume Techniques II
TP607 History of Fashion*
TP609 Principles of Costume Design
TP630 Object Dress
TP610 Advanced Costume Design
TP030 Workshops in Special Skills
FC110 Life Drawing
FC210 Life Drawing
TP125 Drawing and Rendering the Draped Form
TP400 Light Lab
Plus electives (chosen in consultation with mentor.)

Lighting Design:Metier Requirements:

TP100	BFA-1 Design Studio
TP400B	Light Lab
TP150	Lighting Techniques
TP401A	Lighting Design I: Plot making
TP401B	Lighting Design I: The Design Process
TP402	Advanced Lighting Design
TP407	Lighting Production Seminar
TP560	Vector Works
TP406	Lighting Technology*
TP214	Architectural Styles*
TP302	Scene Design I
TP500/501	Sound Design I or Sound Lab
TP800	Independent Study in Design or Technology Art History* History of Film or Dance*

Recommended Electives:

TP700	Management Techniques
T 810	Transforming Text
T 812	Shadow Puppetry
TP306	Scene Painting
D 038	Dance Showings Drawing Courses

Scene Design:Metier Requirements:

TP100	BFA-1 Design Studio
TP200	Stagecraft I
TP216	Techniques of Design for Undergrads
TP214	Architectural Styles*
TP302	Scene Design I
TP305	Special Topics in Scene Design
TP309	Scene Painting for Undergrads
TP400A	Light Lab
TP401	Lighting Design I
TP560	Vector Works
FC115	Basic Perspective

A minimum of 6 courses required—selected in consultation with Mentor from the following: Art History*, Life Drawing, Character Animation, Painting, Costume or Lighting Design, History of Fashion*, Puppetry and computer aided design.

Sound Design:Metier Requirements:

TP100	BFA-1 Design Studio
TP160	Sound Video Techniques
TP406	Lighting Technology*
TP500	Sound Design I
TP501	Sound Lab
TP510	Adv. Sound Design I
TP520	Special Topics in Sound Design
TP530	Adv. Sound Design II

SCHOOL OF THEATER

TP812	Creative Listening for the Sound Designer
TP525	Professional Sound Environments
TP550	Sound Design/Stage Multimedia
F 106	Sound For Film/Video

Interscholar Courses

ID370 The People's Theory

2 units / Semester I

An interdisciplinary reading and discussion group for art and music students. We will read articles with an aim to crack the codes of proprietary, critical languages in each discipline, to unearth mutual interests. In a critical setting which includes more than one discipline, how do we determine what is "good"? Who owns the codes? How do "specialists" in different disciplines come to talk to one another? Art students with an interest in music or sound are welcomed. Members of art bands are especially encouraged.

ID550 Arts Pedagogy: Artists Preparing to Teach in the Community

2 units / Semester I, II

This course is aimed at those students who wish to develop teaching skills within community contexts. The course will address topics such as the translation of content in specific artforms into culturally and gender inclusive curricula for adolescents, community and cultural issues, artistic, conceptual and social development of teens, learning styles, current pedagogical practice, collaboration, team teaching and ethical issues. There will be readings, discussions, guest speakers, panels, demonstrations and off-site observations.

- Open to all MFA students. BFA students who are CAP teaching assistants are also eligible.

MC 416 Media Theory: Getting & Using Critique

3 units / Semester I

An interdisciplinary critique class taught by Theater and Music School faculty. See Music School for course description.

TP831A&B Open Dress: Special Forces

3 units / Semester I

A hybrid (Art/Theatre) laboratory, merging approaches to gathering, structuring and constructing material for original work.

This course seeks to blur demarcations between dress and architecture, allowing the aesthetics of the two disciplines to influence, inflect, carom and conflict with each other. We will come to this work in two ways: through the realm of other disciplines (light, movement, sound and philosophy (for example) and through the application of crafting techniques using given material challenges (i.e. inflatables, collapsibles, constructables, etc...)

* Note: this class is a practicum and is concerned with creating original work, which will have a formal institute-wide presentation upon completion.

* Open to graduate students throughout the Institute.

Theater Courses Open to the Institute

Theater students may select three of the following four survey courses to meet the Theater School/Critical Studies metier studies requirement.

CS178A Survey of World Theater-Text

3 units / Semester I

Survey of World Theater - Text is designed to provide a survey of twentieth century theatre history with an emphasis on world theatre by studying the work of select playwrights. We will explore the plays/texts through a variety of assignments, including critical writing, creative projects and performance.

CS178B Survey of World Theater-Visual - Seeing is Believing

3 units / Semester II

Seeing is Believing focuses on the intersection of performance and visual communication. The title is of course double-edged because “belief,” while it may seem self-evident to someone who has it, is not always shared. We may be inclined to believe what we see because we trust our own judgment. Or, if we are involved in the visual and performance arts we are likely to want our audience to believe in the sincerity or authenticity of what we put before them. In this class we will consider what both creates and undermines seeing as believing: ideals, models, frames of presentation and design; myths and narratives which propose authentic modes of seeing and believing. Inevitably this means engaging the symbiotic relationship between trust and doubt, reality and illusion, understanding and misunderstanding and many other apparent dichotomies that may not be clear divisions at all. We will focus on various kinds of visual evidence and rhetoric in images and films, which will in turn connect to the various forms and tools which give this kind of communication its power: music, gesture, and language. We will consider what it means to play, to animate the inanimate, and to repel and attract through provocation.

CS179A Survey of World Theater-Cultural

3 units / Semester I

Theater history in light of performance styles; a particular emphasis on documentation from the 20th/21st centuries.

* One of four courses available to meet the Theater School metier studies requirement.

CS179B Survey of World Theater-Performance Styles

3 units / Semester II

Theater from an anthropological point of view-as an expression of social identities per ethnicity, class, etc.

* One of four courses available to meet the Theater School metier studies requirement.

T 005A&B The Theater

2 units / Semester I, II

A close reading of the plays in our season, supported with critical and contextual materials. The technique of Critical Response will be used in discussing the productions. Regular journal writing including description, research, evaluation and creative writing for performance will be required.

* Required of all BFA-1 and undergraduate transfer Theater School students.

* Must be completed in the first year. Critical Studies credit given.

TP406 Lighting Technology

3 units / Semester I

Lecture/demonstration leading to an in-depth understanding of energy and its transformation, the basic physics of electricity and light and the design and operation of systems for their control, the physiology of human perception of light and the interaction of colored light with colored surfaces. Electrical safety will be stressed.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

T 580 Entrepreneurship

2 units / Semester I, II

This course will focus on learning to develop your own opportunities for work in the arts. It will address issues in both the profit and not-for-profit worlds and encompass challenges faced by performers and designers. It will cover the theater/live performance and film/media arenas.

* Open to the Institute.

TP945A-C Film Producing and Management

2-3 units / Semester I, II

The course will explore the role of the producer in developing projects and the systems and teams to support them. Issues specific to working, independently and within the studio system will be addressed as well as specific challenges relating to adapting material, creating an artistically supportive atmosphere, location work, financial management, working with unions and problem solving.

* Open to the Institute. Preference will be given to graduate students.

T 010 Acting Techniques I

1 unit / Semester I

A class in performance designed to meet the needs of the individual student within their respective levels of acting. The class will focus on fundamentals in acting, body awareness, text analysis, and the application of theater exercises to scenes and monologues.

• Open to the Institute

T 020 Acting Techniques II

1 unit / Semester II

A continuation of Acting Techniques I.

T 030 Institute Directing I

1 unit / Semester I, II

Principles of stage direction applicable to any performance situation. Designed especially for filmmakers, theater designers, performance artists, choreographers, etc.

T 050 Writing for Performance Workshop

2 units / Semester I, II

A semester-long course in playwriting taught in the workshop style. Open to the Institute.

* May be taken twice for credit.

T 060 Acting for Singers

2 units / Semester I, II

The class will do exercises that help develop personal connection skills in conjunction with embracing the action/objective imperative in acting. The class will then work on songs and duets from music theatre, from an acting perspective.

T 062 Flixus

2 units / Semester II

Flixus is a collaborative effort with the Film and Theater schools in which students from both schools join forces to create two or three dramatic short films. Students will form production teams with roles matching their areas of concentration, to complement those of the film school students, as well as gaining experience and contributing in other areas. The emphasis will be on cooperation and learning from each other's expertise; the process will be as important as the results. A good introduction to the ins and outs of low budget filmmaking.

T 065 International Program Development

1-3 units / Semester II

This course covers preparation and development of projects that are slated to travel to international festivals or art-making events. Activities occur throughout the spring semester and during the summer and will include regular planning and discussion sessions, rehearsals and performances. Enrollment in the class will indicate a commitment to the project and the financial contribution each participant may incur.

Class meetings include time listed plus directed study.

T 445C Graduate Seminar: Adaptation

3 units / Semester II

The course starts with an interest in texts that, at first sight, resist dramatization—novels, short stories, poems, non-fiction. Using a variety of techniques—writing, image work, painting, performance—we examine how these texts can be explored in the theater. In the process, we investigate questions, such as “How do you translate a particular non-dramatic text into a theatrical one?” and “How do you use a non-dramatic text as a starting point for a theatrical piece?” During the first half of the semester we respond to the same text; the second part of the semester provides opportunities to develop individual projects. Collaboration is strongly encouraged. Offered Alternate Years

* Recommended for graduate students with an interest in adaptation and text work.

* Undergraduate students by permission of instructor.

T 445D Graduate Seminar: Greek Drama

3 units / Semester II

This seminar will focus on the close reading of select plays by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. As we explore the nexus between the Greek classics and the modern stage, we will examine how these plays functioned in the context of their own society and what continues to make them the basis for powerful performances today. In addition to the plays, we will read various texts on Greek theater practice, mythology, and intercultural adaptation. Requirements include oral presentations and writing assignments.

T 445F Graduate Seminar: Dramaturgy

2 units / Semester I, II

A course focusing primarily on the texts engaged in the current CalArts School of Theater season. As time permits, we may also look at other work currently presented within the Institute and the Los Angeles community. Some of the questions we will investigate: How can the dramaturg/dramaturgical activity elucidate the creative process? How can textual and visual research deepen the work? What is the dramaturg's function working on an existing text, a new play, a dance theater piece? How does dramaturgical thinking relate to critique? Participants will function as dramaturgical consultants on each other's projects and explore the various ways in which dramaturgical thinking can stimulate the production process. Geared towards directors, designers, playwrights, and any students functioning as dramaturgs on current productions.

*Permission of Instructor required

T 445G Graduate Seminar: Translation

3 Units / Semester I

This writing workshop will engage the special challenges and opportunities involved in translating fiction from one language to another. Each participant will choose a text for translation into English and bring it into class periodically for collective review. While a part of the course will be dedicated to translating for the theater, students are free to choose non-dramatic projects. The course means to stimulate critical reflection on the many possible approaches to translation through discussion of various theories, ranging from Dryden to Derrida, and through comparative analysis of select translations.

Geared towards writers from any school in the institute.

*Permission of Instructor required

T 445H Theater of Witness

2 Units / Semester I

How has theater born witness to human atrocities throughout history? We will read plays that document or testify to violence and human suffering, and we will look at the work of various theater artists who have made it their mission to represent suffering. Questions we will engage include: What can theater add to the process of witnessing? How specifically do language and image function in plays that represent trauma? What kinds of witnesses are produced by various kinds of theatrical strategies? What is the political function of theater in the aftermath of violence? Readings of plays and theoretical texts by theater artists may be supplemented by readings in psychoanalysis and political ethics.

*Permission of Instructor required

T 460 Screenwriting for the Theater Artist

2 units / Semester I

A one semester course open to all institute students, at all levels of experience. Students will propose, outline and then work to complete a first draft of an original screenplay. Along the way students will be introduced to the basics of working with cards, treatments, story structure, dialogue and screenplay formatting. Length will be determined by student experience and capability, shorts are encouraged, but features are acceptable. In-class presentation and discussion of in progress drafts is crucial. A lab setting is the aim here, where we all learn by doing and talking. Students are required to purchase Final Draft screenwriting software and have internet access to email their assignments

*By permission of the instructor.

T 560 Graduate Play Analysis

3 units / Semester I

A one-semester course that aims to discover what a play is, how it works and what it's for.

Course objectives include:

- * Creating a joint vocabulary for talking about plays by interrogating the meaning and use of dramatic concepts such as "action", "character", "space," etc.
- * Increasing our capacity to enter into a dialogue with text (How do you listen to and question texts?).
- * Expanding our ability to generate an articulate and imaginative response to dramatic texts.

This course will be team-taught by three instructors. Each session will have two parts: The collective reading and discussion of the play and a subsequent, more detailed, discussion in a smaller setting, which may include writing and creative exercises. Readings will focus on ten plays and select theoretical texts ranging from Aristotle to contemporary theorists and theater artists.

T 562 Graduate Performance Analysis

3 units / Semester II

(Course will first be taught Spring 2008)

Course Description to be determined.

TP943 Sustainable Theater

2 units / Semester II

We will focus on integrating ecologically sustainable processes and technologies into professional artistic practice with an emphasis on theater and the built in problem of its temporary nature. The course will be divided between research on contemporary issues of sustainability through reading, visiting practitioners and field trips; and the development of projects proposing ways to alter or replace our current practices. The course will culminate in a presentation of research and proposals to the larger CalArts community.

Puppetry Courses (Open to the Institute)T 810 The Object in Performance

3 units / Semester II

The puppet has been an integral and dynamic element of the 20th century. Avant garde: in dance, film, video, installation or visual art. This overview course explores the essential use of puppets and performing objects through the study of several theatrical forms: found object theater, toy theater (miniature proscenium performance), shadow puppetry and Bunraku. The history and contemporary use of these forms will be examined through readings, viewings of performance works on tapes and slides, as well as examining related forms such as installations and film which make use of performing objects. Students will be asked to read works on the history and theory of the puppet and performing objects, give researched presentation in class, and create small performances incorporating the various forms studied.

- * Class size limited to 12.
- * Open to all students in the Institute above BFA-2.
- * Must sign up and interview with the instructor at registration.

T 811 Toy Theatre

3 units / Semester II

Toy Theatre was a popular parlor or home entertainment in Europe and America in the 19th Century. The first "toy theatre" or miniature proscenium theater with cutout figures, was made in England in 1811. These early Toy Theatres were miniature replicas of actual theaters and plays performed on the stage, with condensed scripts, and were performed in the home for friends and family. In the 20th Century, artists began exploring this form and reinventing it in a variety of ways. Artists as diverse as Diaghlev and Gordon Craig created original work in this miniature form. The 1990's saw a tremendous Toy Theatre revival in New York and elsewhere, as artists turned to this low-tech, highly portable and expressive form. In this course, we will explore the history of the Toy Theatre, both in its more traditional roots and its use as a form by 20th Century avant-garde theater artists, and its relationship to work by visual artists such as Joseph Cornell and Christian Boltanski. Students will also create their own Toy Theatres and performances, either in response to texts or as purely visual theater, film, video, or installation works.

* Open to the Institute by permission of the instructor (BFA-2 and above).

T 812 Shadow Theater

3 units / Semester I

One of the most ancient forms of theater, shadow puppetry has been an essential form historically in both ritual and secular theater. Shadow theater has also played an important role in the 20th century, from the legendary Chat Noir performances in Paris at the turn of the century, to the continually evolving Indonesian Wayang, to the works of contemporary avant garde artists, both in theater and the visual arts. This course will explore the medium of shadows through in-class viewings of theater, film, visual/installation art, photography, and graphic design which utilize shadow forms in evocative and imaginative ways. Students will work on individual and collaborative projects which explore a variety of approaches to the theatrical use of shadows. Guest artists will include Larry Reed, one of the few American dalangs (Balinese shadow puppet master), and Paul Zaloom, who creates satirical found object shadow performances using an overhead projector.

* BFA-2 and above, by permission of the instructor.

T 814 The Hand Puppet in History and Practice

3 units / Semester II

In the history of puppet theater, the hand puppet has always maintained a ubiquitous presence. This course will explore the history and practice of the hand puppet, from its roots and contemporary practices in many cultures. Artists such as Paul Klee and Marc Chagall created hand puppet performances, and it is a form that has attracted the attention of avant-garde artists in theater and the visual arts in recent years. The hand puppet (as the name suggests) is not far from its human manipulator, from other puppetry forms. While hand puppets have been used in ritual performance and in epic dramas, they are usually associated with humor and satire; one of the most well known Western incarnations is the character Punch. Part everyman, part trickster, Punch appears in many forms from the French Guignol to the German Kasperle. The cultural significance of the Punch and Judy plays will be examined through original texts and the work of contemporary practitioners. Students will also work throughout the semester on the design and construction of hand puppets and sets, culminating in the creation of their own hand puppet performances.

* Open to the Institute by permission of the instructor (BFA-2 and above).

T 815 Special Topics in Puppetry

2-4 units / Semester I, II

Guest or CalArts faculty design a course of their choosing dealing with some aspect of puppetry.

T 817 Picture Performance

2 units / Semester II

This course will look at both the history and contemporary practice of cantastoria, or telling stories with pictures. The course will explore, through a series of class projects, the many different known variations and theatrical possibilities inherent in picture performance, while suggesting its potential as a viable and expressive form today. This rare, archaic medium of “picture performance” originated in ancient India more than two thousand years ago and spread across the world to virtually every culture. Picture performance is the ancestor of a multitude of forms from the comic book to medicine shows and sideshows to “tableaux vivants” and nickelodeons. We will also explore contemporary forms of cantastoria, from slide shows, scrolls, multi-screen installations, serial performance, to certain types of films and montage, to comic books, puppet theater, and yet-unimagined forms. Students will invent and perform their own picture performances, using various media and performance styles, narrative and non-narrative forms, ending the class with a public presentation of the original works.

T 818A&B Making Marionette Theater

3 units / Semester I, II

The marionette has multiple personalities. It is a fantastical object of delight that carries with it uncanny and sinister qualities. It can be a Brechtian tool to play with and dismantle artifice. It can also be used in earnest acts of mimicry. Students in this class will explore the various uses for marionettes, both contemporary and traditional, as they create their own works of marionette theater. Design, construction and manipulation skills will be taught weekly throughout the semester.

* Open to the Institute, BFA-2 and above.

* Enrollment limited to 10.

T 819 Objects High and Low: The History of the Puppet in American Culture

2 units / Semester I

This class will look at the rich and varied history of puppetry and object theater in the United States. The survey will include Native American ceremonial objects, vaudeville marionettes, WPA puppet plays, Vegas showgirl acts, television ventriloquism, and finally avant-garde object theater. We will look at the form and content of these various uses of puppetry as well as the subcultures from which they sprang. We will consider puppets as immigrant objects carried to the New World, as vehicles of dissent, as propaganda, as drag, as cheap advertisement, and as post-modern performers.

* Enrollment limited to 16 students.

* Open to the Institute. BFA-2 and above.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

T 820 Transforming Text I: Adapting Work for the Puppet Theater

2.5 units / Semester I

This class considers the conceptual and practical aspects of adapting existing texts (whether from drama or literature) when using puppets or performing objects as integral elements in a theatrical work. Directors and Designers will work in tandem, selecting and analyzing texts and considering the use of puppet forms which can illuminate the text in substantial ways. This collaboration is essential in the development of new work for the puppet stage, as the puppet serves a double use as both an element of the design and as a performing object/actor. While conceiving and designing these objects as a part of the directorial approach, students will examine the ways in which the use of puppets can unlock a text or create a world. Through viewings and assignments, students will explore issues such as scale, doubling, ambiguity, the use of metaphor, and the relationship of actor to puppet, while examining the historical use of the performing object as an essential theatrical tool of the avant-garde.

* MFA-2 and MFA-3, directors and designers.

T 821 Transforming Text II: Adapting Work for the Puppet Theater

2.5 units / Semester II

This class is an extension and expansion of Transforming Text I, and allows for a more in-depth exploration of the relationship between text and performing objects. This class continues the consideration of the conceptual and practical aspects of adapting existing texts (whether from drama, literature, or other sources including original or collaged texts) when using puppets or performing objects as integral elements in a theatrical work. Viewings will focus on the contemporary and historical use of performing objects in the avant-garde (visual arts, film, and theater). Students will focus on one or two projects for the full semester, exploring issues such as the puppet as doppelganger, the relationship of the actor to the puppet, and different formal approaches to the theatrical use of performing objects.

* MFA-2 and MFA-3, directors and designers, or by permission of the instructor.

* Prerequisites: Transforming Text I or equivalent course.

T 825 Independent Projects in Puppetry

2-4 units / Semester I, II

This course is designed to provide a focused opportunity to be mentored through an independent puppet project by the faculty of the Cotsen Center for Puppetry and the Arts.

* By permission of instructor only.

T 829 Performing Object Laboratory

2 units / Semester I, II

This laboratory will function as an ongoing developmental laboratory, with an emphasis on process and critique. This course is specifically designed as a rigorous laboratory for 2nd year puppetry students, in which to develop new work using puppets, animated objects, or related/hybrid forms. First year puppetry students will also participate as performers in the work of the 2nd year director/designers. The lab is also open (by permission of the instructor) to other students (BFA 2 and above) who wish to participate as performers/ puppeteers, as well as designers and composer/musicians. Proposals will also be considered for a limited number of exceptional projects by other 2nd or 3rd year graduate students who are exploring the performing object in unexpected ways.

* May be repeated for credit.

* By permission of instructor only.

T 828 Artificial Life

2 units / Semester I

This class will trace the use of dolls, doubles, dummies, automatons, robots, and puppets from romantic era fiction to contemporary visual art, film, and theater. We will look at the use of these objects as vehicles for the unconscious, monsters of scientific folly, and ghosts of the outmoded. We will also look at the role that puppets have played in avant-garde theater, paying close to how they have been used to subvert and pervert theatrical realism.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

Note: Many Design and Production classes are open to the Institute as well.

Performance Courses

T 052 Theater Run Crew

2 units / Semester I, II

Covers five areas of study: props, costumes, scenery, lighting, sound. Each semester the student will crew a show in one of the areas.

* Required of all BFA-1 Acting and Management students.

T 080 Workshops in Special Skills

1-4 units / Semester I, II

Workshop topics vary from semester to semester.

T 090 Rehearsal and Performance

1-4 units / Semester I, II

Credit given to theater school actors and directors for work in their metier on theater school projects and productions. Credit varies based on expectations of the role the student plays in the production process, both in commitment of time and responsibility.

* May be repeated for credit.

T 100A&B BFA 1 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

This BFA 1 Acting Studio focuses on work of 19th-21st century American playwrights. Through these texts students will begin to define their individual processes by exploring fundamental acting techniques that introduce young performers to their instruments. Through intense text analysis and class discussion students learn to trust their choices and clarify their character work. The manifestation of their individual creative fulfillment is an important part of their training. Students are encouraged to engage their imaginations by exploring the rigors of "Action", "Impulse/Intent", "Objective/Super Objective", "Truth", and the "Inner Creative State".

T 102 Mythic Imagination and the Actor

2 units / Semester I

Myths are great stories that serve as guides for us to better understand our experience of being human. They are stories that stand the test of time because they speak profoundly and metaphorically to us, no matter where we live or in what time period. Just as the great teachers have used parables and koans(?) to lead others to a deeper understanding of human experience, so do myths speak through metaphor and symbols for the same purpose. This course investigates the actor as storyteller. In order to fully understand a great play from any part of the world an actor must have references beyond popular culture. Without knowledge of the Myths we can only hope for superficial readings of plays. To that end we will explore myths and stories from a wide variety of cultures. Physical exercises that ignite the imagination will be used. We will also investigate the power of mythic imagery in order to deepen metaphorical meaning and our connection to text.

*Required of and open only to BFA 1 Actors

T 200A&B BFA 2 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

The mission of the BFA II Acting Studio is to shift the actor's attention to the world of language and heightened text. The intention is to get the language into the mouth and body of the actor using the disciplines of the text, as well as improvisation and exercises to free the actor's imagination in response to the word. Emphasis is placed throughout the year on truthful, specific, moment-to-moment way of acting using classical texts, with the aim of developing an actor who is skilled and comfortable approaching any level of text they may encounter during the course of a career in the theater. Disciplines learned in other classes (speech, voice, movement, text analysis), and the actor's creative instinct, passion, and imagination are brought together in BFA -2 Acting Studio.

T 300A&B BFA 3 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

T300A

A one-semester course that focuses on performing the works of the modern classics such as Chekhov, Ibsen and Strindberg. We begin by analyzing the text in its depth and finding inner motive forces behind the words. Learning to convey complexity of hidden emotional world interconnected with the logic of the language is the base for our work. The actors are learning to “commune” with each other. They are developing creative skills through various exercises. While sharing, understanding and adapting to different methods they are building up their confidence and finding personal style and force. Besides reviewing the specifics (who, where, what and why) students are encouraged to form their own ideas. Awakening their imagination, learning how to use it and making brave choices is of crucial importance. Liberating their gift in a powerful and at the same time sophisticated ways is the goal of this approach.

T300B

Students analyze, rehearse, and perform scenes from non-realistic works by authors such as Ionesco, Brecht, Durang, Beckett, Genet, Eric Eng, Suzy Lorie Parks, Lorca, Corneille, Strindberg, Joseph Chaikin, Mrozek, DeGhelderode, Wedekind, Kaiser, and Charles Ludlam. How to approach plays written in styles other than naturalism and realism, which often require the actor to make outrageous or extreme choices. How to approach “alternative, poetic, avant garde, expressionistic, and ridiculous” texts and keep the world and intent of the playwright clear. How to stay in action and ground even the most outrageous characters and situations.

T 400A&B BFA 4 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

The class will focus on expanding the actors' appetite and range by exploring a variety of acting styles and genres. Scenes will be chosen ranging from Elizabethan to those of contemporary writers – each serving to address the students' individual needs. Particular attention will be paid to improving sensitivity to language – to “hearing the music.”

T 500A&B MFA-1 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

This acting studio focuses on the rigorous, imaginative, and unconventional approach to a variety of texts. The actors explore the use of formal gesture in order to access interior landscape, storytelling through the body, the relationship between text and music, and the performer's transformational powers of themselves and the space around them. Archetypal figures are investigated in order to bring to light the heightened potentialities of performance. In the first semester we will work on scenes from film noir and material from Raymond Chandler's collection of short stories “Trouble is my Business”. Mid semester we will move into material chosen to address the specific issues the actor needs to focus on. In the second semester we explore a play or project. In the past these projects have included “The Three Sisters”, “Orestes”, “Life is a Dream”, and “The Cherry Orchard”. The second semester's work will be presented for Theater School students and faculty at the end of the year during our “viewings” week.

T 600A&B MFA-2 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I, II

A two-semester course focused on a classical period drama. First semester is devoted to Shakespeare and understanding of the language, its importance and clarity in the performance. Second part of the year also concentrates on language and it varies from Greeks (Aristophanes, Sophocles) to Restoration and more. Complexity of the material demands at first learning the application of fundamental acting skills. That includes enabling all acting apparatus to work in synchronicity. Attention to language in connection to breathing and adopting the characters in all their complexity. Understanding of the psychology behind the words is important as much as learning to translate that energy into the action. Dramatic and extraordinary texture of the works we are investigating is giving the students the opportunity and supports them to explore and use freely their imagination. It is not about the rules- rather, it is about expression and transformation, about power and measure.

T 700A&B MFA-3 Acting Studio

3 units / Semester I

This class aims to 1) deepen personal connection through sensory and emotion exercises; 2) re-examine and reinforce the objective/action imperative through improvisational work (“Jumps”); and 3) select and work on scenes which address each student’s particular problems.

T 701 Solo Performance

3 units / Semester II

In this one semester course students are introduced to exercises that help engage their imaginations towards the creation of a solo performance piece. A variety of guest solo performance artists will be invited for one week and two week sessions to offer the students different approaches and exercises to the task of creating a solo work. The main instructor, Marissa Chibas, will oversee the entire process. The guest artists will also serve to offer feedback on the students existing material. In the past guest artists have included Charlayne Woodard, Luis Alfaro and Stew. By the end of the semester a first draft of a solo piece will be the outcome. First priority for this course is offered to MFA 3’s and is open to others in the institute per the instructor’s approval.

T 456 Acting for the Camera

2 units / Semester II

This course explores the style of acting that fits the screen. The relationship between the actor and the camera, adjustment of the voice, movement and finding spontaneity is the goal. Applying the acting skills already learned for the stage with adjustments that medium of film requires. Students are investigating the differences and applying in practice what they learn. Working on their monologues and scenes with the camera in classes and re-shooting the material gives them the immediate experience. Also, this class is trying to introduce the film and its history in a richer form by viewing some of the masterpieces and guiding the students in how to observe and recognize the true Art of filmmaking.

T 230 Audition Practicum

3 units / Semester I

Taught to the graduating company (MFA 3’s and BFA 4’s) in the fall of their graduating year. Students audition for the instructor and various professional agents, producers, directors, and casting directors (commercial and theatrical). Auditions are critiqued by the instructor and the guests. Past guests have included: Steven Bochco, producer; Nicole Arbusto, casting director; Donna Morong, Disney feature film casting director; Tim Engle, Head, Don Buchwald Agency on the west coast; the Los Angeles heads of SAG and Equity; Geoff and Julia Elliot, artistic directors of A Noise Within; Waleed Moursi, film director; Jessica Kubzanski, theatre director; Micheal Taylor Gray from Now Casting; Joey Tamer, entrepreneur; and actors Derek Webster and Clay Storseth. Students audition with prepared monologues, cold reading and commercial copy. Students' resumes, headshots, and cover letters are critiqued. Students are also required to write a monologue and a scene for themselves for possible use in showcase and/or for future auditions.

T 455 Showcase

2 units / Semester II

A course designed to prepare the graduating actor for work in the industry. A presentation of scenes and monologues is selected and rehearsed and then presented in a theater for invited audiences of agents, casting directors, producers, and directors in both L.A. and N.Y.

T 105A&B BFA 1 Voice

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Two-semester sequence. Liberation of the natural voice from tension and defenses through various exercises.

T 205A&B BFA 2 Voice

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Semester 1

Voice work connected to acting studio in Shakespeare. The focus is on expanded range, expressiveness and vitality in the vocal process to meet the demands of the Shakespeare text.

Semester 2

This course serves as an introduction to strengthen, extend and develop the vocal range of the performer always in connection with his/her body. The work is based on the Roy Hart Theatre extended vocal range technique. Emphasis will be given to: discovery and exploration of five fundamental voice textures: Water, Earth, Wood, Metal, Air; the body source for sound; study of "Fiction" as the basis of the performer's body; and breath control, vocal formants and resonators. The vocal work is always explored in the context of "Physical Theatre". Both individual and ensemble work will be explored during the course.

T 305A&B BFA 3 Voice

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Semester 1

The goal of this course is to apply basic elements learned in "Voice BFA2" and develop them in the context of the physical training protocols for the performer. Emphasis will be given to the: development/research of voice textures; study of the physical training protocols for the performer; study of gesture as visual representation; integration of the prop in physical training; use of "raw" sound, spoken word, and singing; tools for writing the voice and the body gesture: composition; and vocal and corporal delivery

Semester 2

This course is a synthesis of the material learned in "Voice and Body Gesture BFA1 and 2" and its application to composition and the creation of work. Using the dynamic model of Meyerhold's balagan form as well as the European Cabaret style of the turn of the 20th century (where social commentary, debate and questioning prevailed), we will create a piece through process theatre. Each student must bring at least one topic, issue or piece of work. This material will be explored and worked on during the semester. Both individual and ensemble performing work will be part of the course.

T 405A & B BFA 4 Voice/Speech

1.5 units / Semester I

Semester 1

Accent/Dialect Work. Students learn a technique for doing accents and dialects and work on Standard English, General Southern and one of their own choosing.

Semester 2

Voice & Speech. Through practice in speaking a combination of production and course-assigned texts, students work on using effective voice and speech technique in all acting situations. Individual voice and speech issues are addressed and worked on in the work on the material the student is currently working on.

T 505A&B MFA 1 Voice

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Semester 1

Discussion of the approach to the voice work [Linklater] and how it differs from other approaches. How the voice work and why it does not work. Discussion of habitual tensions, identification of them and how they get in the way of voice work. Spine releasing work leading into work on head/neck, jaw, tongue and soft palate. Shakespeare sonnets are used for text.

Semester 1

Putting the above together into channel work' expanded breathing capacity; mask resonance and middle of the voice work – leading to skull into range. Articulation work into some text (if time and level or work permits).

T 605A&B MFA 2 Voice

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Two-semester sequence. See T 305A&B description.

* Required of all MFA-2 Actors.

T 705A MFA 3 Voice/Speech

1 unit / Semester II

Third year speech continues the development of the ear and the accurate production of sounds in preparation for dialect work. The basic skills of IPA allow students the tools to meet the demands of any and every dialect. Each third year class reveals the dialects that most interests them and then as a class they start the research. They use accurate dialect samples as well as CDs compiled by Gillian Lane-Plescia of the Royal Shakespeare Company. This work results in a dialect CD of their own to be used in their professional careers.

T 706A&B Singing

1 unit / Semester I, II

The course objective is to install confidence and understanding in the use of the vocal instrument as it pertains to singing. Emphasis will be place on the practical application of exercises and songs of various styles in both group and solo settings. Basic terminology will be introduced as needed. By the end of the term the student will have prepared from memory no less than three contrasting songs suitable for auditions situations. In addition, the student will learn a series of voice building exercises that can continue to be used after the course is completed.

T 110 BFA 1 Speech

2 units / Semester II

The first year in Speech introduces students to the International Phonetic Alphabet and to the practice of Speech for Acting. The focus is on learning and mastering both through Edith Skinner-based actor speech training. The work includes developing listening, transcription and articulation skills.

T 210A&B BFA 2 Speech

2 units / Semester I, II

Introduction of Text: Dylan Thomas, Virginia Wolfe, Carl Hancock-Rux and William Shakespeare are some of the writers used to combine the techniques of imagery, stress, vocal variety, breath, voice and speech. The goal this year is for breath, voice, and speech to work in tandem, effortlessly and efficiently. The second semester of the year is devoted entirely to Shakespeare text. Actors use classical monologues to address existing technical issues. During this time actors will work on an average of 8-10 monologues, resulting in a strong classical repertoire from which to draw.

T 310A&B BFA 3 Speech

2 units / Semester I, II

Heightened Speech: The work in this course furthers the integration of Voice and Speech skills in the speaking of text. The focus is on speaking poetic texts, both classical and modern. Speech techniques such as Sense Stress, The Challengers and Inflections are used to enhance students' speaking skills.

T 510A&B MFA 1 Speech

2 units / Semester I, II

The first year consists of a myriad of articulation exercises that equips the actor with the agility needed to produce vowel, diphthong and consonant sounds efficiently. Developing the ear for the identification of the sounds of speech is crucial during this time. Before one can produce a sound he or she must be able to identify it. In short, actors are being taught to learn specific rules of speech in order to "break" them to suit the needs of the character and genre.

Second semester of the first year is when the introduction of IPA (the InterNation Phonetic Alphabet) begins. Students are instructed on an individual basis. This process is rigorous and can be somewhat time consuming simply because students are working to break habitual and regional speech patterns. Small class size is crucial during this period due to the specificity of the work.

T 610A&B MFA 2 Speech

2 units / Semester I, II

Heightened Speech: The work in this course further the integration of Voice & Speech skills in the speaking of text. The focus is on speaking poetic texts, both classical and modern. Speech techniques such Sense Stress, The Challengers and Inflection are used to enhance students' speaking skills.

T 115A&B BFA 1 Movement

1.5 units / Semester I, II

YOGA- Students learn to center their bodies with proper alignment and connect to their breath as they follow their impulses to explore their imaginations through their physicality. We use the form of yoga to challenge the physical instrument and increase strength, stamina and flexibility.

T 215A&B BFA 2 Movement

1.5 units / Semester I, II

A two-semester sequence. Basic strengthening and stretching using Pilates floor and machines techniques. Performance of choreographic sequences is introduced.

T 315A&B BFA 3 Movement

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Movement skills for period dance is introduced and the continuation of the Pilates work as well as the choreographic component is maintained.

T 420A&B Dance/Theater

2 units / Semester I, II

The genre of Dance/Theater has always been a forum for great experimentation artistically and great ambiguity critically. What is Dance/Theater? How does one create it? And how as a performer can you bend between forms? This class will be a laboratory of movement and dialogue exploring these questions and more. Class time will be split between technique and composition workshop. Each class will begin with a vigorous modern dance warm-up, which will address coordination, balance, flexibility, dynamics and points of initiation to engage a profound sense of connection to all layers of the body. The rest of the class will focus on composition assignments, in which students will be challenged both individually and in groups to confront the process of making Dance/Theater work. We will address specific issues such as partnering, physical character and the relationship between text and dance through these compositions. Once a month class will be dedicated to viewing and discussing the work of renowned dance theater artists.

* Enrollment by audition only and limited to 15 students.

T 421 Alexander Technique for Actors

1 Unit / Semester I

The Alexander Technique is a method of self-discovery, which explores how we “use ourselves” in ordinary activity - how we walk, sit, stand, breathe, speak, react to stress. Learning about our own habits allows us to gradually free ourselves of our unconscious patterns that interfere with our natural coordination and spontaneity. The actor will move toward a state of psycho-physical well-being so important for imaginative growth and the development of his means of expression.

T 515A&B MFA 1 Movement

1.5 units / Semester I, II

YOGA

Students learn to center their bodies with proper alignment and connect to their breath as they follow their impulses to explore their imaginations through their physicality. We use the form of yoga to challenge the physical instrument and increase strength, stamina and flexibility.

T 615A&B MFA 2 Movement

1.5 units / Semester I, II

A two-semester course in which the actor is introduced to pilates mat work. This class improves posture, increases strength and endurance. Choreography and improvisation are also a component of this course.

T 615C Fight Choreography (MFA-2 AND BFA-3)

1 unit / Semester I, II

This course explores the basic techniques used to safely and effectively work on scenes which demand fight choreography.

T 715A&B MFA 3 Movement/Pilates

1 unit / Semester I, II

Semester 1

Pilates tutorials using the universal reformer will be the focus of the fall semester class.

Semester 2

Intense Yoga may be selected as an elective in the spring semester.

T 120A&B T'ai Chi Ch'uan - Level I

1.5 units / Semester I, II

Beginning T'ai Chi Ch'uan is the first of four methods in Qigong: a series of slow, graceful, rhythmic exercises (utilizing the simple breathing pattern of a newborn baby, also known as the "essential breath" or Yogic breath). This increases the blood and lymph circulation throughout the body, improves balance, provides time and space for the structure to practice its improving alignment, and calms the mind. It is often practiced merely for the physical strength and agility it provides, as well as enhanced energy and overall physical relaxation and attractiveness in stillness and in motion.

T 220A&B T'ai Chi Ch'uan – Level II

1.5 units / Semester I, II

The integration of movement, breath and voice helps to balance body, mind and emotions. This practice is very powerful when the maximum interaction of self-healing mechanisms is achieved. Spontaneous Practice is an excellent way to achieve this interaction. On days when the practice is vigorous, the benefits are more directed at blood, breath, and lymph circulation and the release of connective tissue. On the days when it is more quiet and flowing, the benefits are more linked to brain chemistry.

T 520 T'ai Chi Ch'uan (MFA-Level 1)

1.5 units / Semester II

See T120 description.

T 827 The Performer and the Object

2 units / Semester I

This course will examine the essential relationship between the performer and the object in theater. The animation of objects by performers is one of the most ancient of theatrical relationships. Through in-class projects, actors will have the opportunity to explore this dynamic and to learn about the historical use and contemporary use of puppets and objects as a major element in the theatrical vocabulary. A variety of forms will be examined from shadow puppets to found objects to Bunraku.

* Required of MFA-1 Actors.

T 511A&B Directing Lab

3-4 units / Semester I, II

This class is the principal training forum for the Directing program. It is a rigorous practicum that identifies and hones the particular vision of each director. Directing Lab can be taken several times over an MFA director's course of study to address a variety of needs. First year MFA actors create a company for this course and Directing Lab constitutes a major component of their first year work.

* May be repeated for credit.

T 521A&B Directing Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

Study and discussion of major directing topics and theories. Required of all MFA 2 & 3 directors.

* May be repeated for credit.

T 860 Collage for the Director

3 units / Semester I

An intensive exploration of collage, one of the most influential and representative forms of the 20th Century, especially designed for theater directors and designers. The class will survey the use of collage in a wide variety of mediums including visual art literature, theater, music and especially experimental film. Class discussion and analysis of these works will introduce students to the key fundamentals of the form such as juxtaposition and appropriation. Students will construct their own collages during in class assignments and a large final project in a form of their choosing. MFA directing students will also be required to write a weekly journal.

* Required of all MFA theater directing students. Taught alternate years.

* Open to graduate students in other programs by permission of instructor.

T 862 Special Topics in Directing

3 units / Semester I, II

This course focuses on exploring a variety of approaches, theories and practices relating to the art of directing. Topics are selected yearly to enhance, deepen, or challenge the directors in the program and/or as a reflection or exploration of the forces affecting the arts, specifically relating to theater or film direction.

T 862A Film Noir for the Theater Artist

3 units / Semester II

Film Noir - what is it? a genre? a visual style? B&W crime movies from the 1940's or 50's? a type of American B-movie? an idea projected onto the past? Why are these films still so appealing and influential 50 years after their creation? Is it still possible to make a film noir today? In this viewing class we will look at 14 film noir classics (one feature length film per week) and examine, analyze and discuss in depth these questions and the way they lead to broader issues of aesthetic definition. Of special interest for theater students in addition to the above, will be our close examination of acting and lighting styles and the way these differ from the concerns of live performance on the stage. Taught alternate years.

T 862B Cinematic Elixirs

3 units / Semester I

For those who seek in film viewing the deeply altered state, a weekly experiment in ecstasy, terror and the ten thousand emotional gradients between. An eclectic hopscotch through the length and breadth of film history. We will sample the intoxicating pleasures of narrative and experimental, silence and sound, the short and the long, the purple and the prosaic, B/W and technicolor, melodrama and realism, the excessive and the minimal, the overwrought and the understated, the hieroglyphic and the direct, and blunt and the mysterious.

* May be repeated for credit.

T 950 Director Thesis Project

8 units / Semester I, II

Student will direct a full length play during the final year of residency. This is the final directing project and includes extensive pre-production planning as well as rehearsals, conferences, and performances.

* Required of and open only to MFA-3 Directing students.

T 880 Writing for Performance I

3 units / Semester I

A semester course in experimental theater history and performance theory (1910-1939) This course looks at both European and American theater/film and literary movements from the turn of the 20th century to the pre WWII era. Students will read and view plays, essays, as well as view films, research and study non-traditional performance and text, allowing an analytical approach to our understanding of the "abstract" or "avant-garde" theater and the politics and social changes that shaped their aesthetic and philosophical movements. Writers, Movements and Topics to be covered include experimentation in early American modernist theater, including Negro theater & the Lafayette Players, Eugene O'Neill and the Provincetown Playhouse/ women and the re-structuring of the feminine identity: Gertrude Stein, H.D., Claude Cahun & the dance performances of Anita Berber//German Film& Theater/ Italian Constructivism/Russian Agit-Prop/ Futurism/ Dada, the conceptual dances of Anita Berber, Antonin Artaud, Group Theater/Harlem Experimental Theater, and the WPA theater.

* Open to graduate students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

T 881 Writing for Performance II

3 units / Semester II

Contemporary Exp. Theater History& Theory 1945-1975

A semester course focusing on post-war theater and experimentation in Europe and America, and its influence on changing roles in race, sex and class representation. Writers and movements to be studied include Post-war Poetic Realism& Tennessee Williams/ Absurdism & Beckett, Genet, Albee/ "Nuthin' But A Man" (film 1959/The Black Theater Movement: Adrienne Kennedy, Ed Bullins, Leroi Jones/Towards the Poor Theater of Jerzy Grotowski/ Robert Wilson, Cafe Cino, La Mama/ the films of Roman Polanski.

* Open to graduate students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

T 882A&B Playwrights' Salon

3 units / Semester I, II

A weekly discussion and exchange of ideas about works in progress and the process of writing. Guest playwrights will be invited to interact with the student writers.

* Required of and limited to all Writing for Performance students.

* Taken each semester of residency.

T 888A Playwright's Lab I

1-3 units / Semester I

A critical feedback workshop of plays and performance works open to all students interested in creating new work. Participants interested in having their work read during the semester are to request slots upon enrollment. 5 slots available (excluding MFA Writers).

* Open to the Institute by permission of instructor.

T 888B Playwright's Lab II

1-3 units / Semester II

This is a writer-driven workshop focused on new works that will be further developed over the course of the semester. Open to all upper division and graduate Theater School students by permission of instructor.

T 890 Playwright's Thesis Project

8 units / Semester II

The student will write a full-length play in their final year of residence. This is the final writing project and includes extensive pre-production planning as well as rehearsals, conferences and performances.

T 800 Undergraduate Independent Study: Theater

1-8 units / Semester I, I

Under the direction of a specific faculty member, individuals or small groups of students will complete projects defined in a contractual agreement drawn at the beginning of each semester. May be repeated for credit.

T 900 Graduate Independent Study: Theater

1-8 units / Semester I, II

Under the direction of a specific faculty member, individuals or small groups of students will complete projects defined in a contractual agreement drawn at the beginning of each semester.

* May be repeated for credit.

Design and ProductionTP030 Workshop in Special Skills

1-4 units / Semester II

Topics and course credit will vary depending on the guest artist and the material to be covered.

TP030-01 Shop L.A.

1 unit / Semester I

Field trips to fabric stores, ethnic districts, wholesale shops and costume rental houses in the Valleys and Downtown; Internet and Catalog searches; swatching, sizing and buying strategies. There is a course fee to cover the cost of transportation, maps and copies.

* Enrollment limited to 8 students.

* Priority to costume program students.

TP030-02 Foundations: 18th and 19th Century Understructures

2 units / Semester I, II

Pattern-making and construction of petticoats, bustles, panniers, hoop crinolines, and various skirt structures. There is a course fee to cover the cost of materials, shop supplies, and copies.

- * Permission of instructor (must already have general garment construction skills).
- * Enrollment limited to 8 students due to availability of equipment and space.
- * Priority to costume program students.

TP030-03 Corsetry

2 units / Semester I, II

Pattern-making and construction and fitting of Renaissance and Victorian era corsets and camisoles. There is a course fee to cover the cost of materials, shop supplies, and copies.

- * Permission of instructor (must already have general garment construction skills).
- * Enrollment limited to 8 students due to availability of equipment and space.

TP030-04 Tailoring

2 units / Semester I, II

An introduction to tailoring techniques, including pad stitching, welt pockets, etc. There is a course fee to cover the cost of materials, shop supplies and copies.

- * Permission of instructor required and costume construction skills.

TP030-05 Projection in Performance

1 unit / Semester II

Discussion and demonstration of guest video artists' work and demos by manufacturers of video and projection equipment.

- * Open to all D&P students, BFA-3 and above.

TP030-06 Score Reading

1 unit / Semester I, II

A class for stage managers, directors, producers and other theater students to learn the basic of reading music in order to be able to work on music theater and opera productions.

- * Priority given to upper division and graduate stage managers and graduate directors.

TP030-08 Sewing Basics

1 unit / Semester II

This class will provide basic sewing skills to the novice stitcher. This is a step-by-step process that will guide the student through different sewing techniques by hand and machine sewing. Some of the techniques covered in the class will be: how to use a sewing machine, how to complete different hand stitches, sewing vocabulary and how to read and execute a commercial pattern.

TP030-09 Color Applications

2 units / Semester I

A practical approach to color theory and methods, ranging from paints to dyes to inks on paper and fabric.

TP090 Production

1-6 units / Semester I, II

Credit given to theater school, designers, managers and technical directors for work in their metier on theater school projects and production. Credit varies based on expectations of the role the student plays in the production process, both in commitment of time and responsibility.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP100 BFA-1 Design Studio

3 units / Semester I

A fall semester course which introduces essential materials and methods for initiating artistic communication by engaging students with the visual and verbal vocabulary of design. The history, theory and practices of design will be discussed, along with major influences from various visual and musical artists and movements. Instruction will include exercises in color theory and composition/form. The course will focus on the examination of perception through 2-D collage; experiments in re-interpretation of conventions through 3-D fabric sculpture; and articulation of structures through found-object model making.

* Required of and open only to BFA-1 Design students.

TP105C Yellow Pad Drafting

2 units / Semester I

While CAD is an essential tool for today's theater professionals, it cannot entirely replace pencil and paper. In this course we will study the basics of graphic representation: the ideas of schematic, plan, elevation and section views, isometric sketching, and basic two-dimensional detailing. The emphasis will be on communication, and exercises will focus on clarity of information without requiring formal drafting or notation. Students will critique each other's work for ambiguity and economy.

TP105D Technical Drawing for the Ham-Handed

2 units / Semester II

This course focuses on developing fundamental drawing skills for the student with little or no previous studio experience, focusing on the development of a student's ability to communicate technical design and construction concepts quickly and coherently through basic illustration. Emphasis will be on object drawing from observation, utilizing the concepts of linear perspective, proportion, value, and other methods for creating accurate visual descriptions of both existing and proposed spaces and structures. Although the goal of the course is to allow the student to create more technical drawings, we will also explore a limited, yet engaging number of techniques, materials, and subjects usually associated with creative drawing, in order to more comprehensively understand the concepts and practices common to both styles.

TP125A&B Drawing and Rendering the Draped Form

2 units / Semester I, II

A course in figure drawing and rendering for costume and scenic designers. The class will focus on drawing both the clothed and unclothed form using live models. Special attention will be paid to techniques in rendering a variety of fabrics.

* Required of MFA and BFA Costume Designers

* Recommended for Scenic Designers

TP150A&B Lighting Techniques

2 units / Semester I, II

An introductory course for the BFA student in lighting design or design technology to learn the basic electrician skills needed to support lighting designs. An overview of equipment, accessories and control systems used. There will be a classroom component as well as lab time in the shop to apply techniques learned and to increase skill level.

TP160A&B Sound Techniques

2 units / Semester I, II

An introductory course for the BFA students to learn the basics of sound technology and systems through hands-on work installing equipment.

TP200 Stagecraft I

2 units / Semester I

An introduction to the skills and techniques of scenic carpentry. Topics include hand and power tool techniques; joinery; frames and skins; material selection and project organization. Projects are practical and hands-on with a focus on skill and technique.

- * A lab time of 3 hours/week is required
- * Enrollment is limited to 10 students
- * Permission of instructor required

TP201A&B Advanced Stagecraft I & II

3 units / Semester II

A continuation of Stagecraft I, this class will focus on advanced construction techniques and project comprehension. Topics include alternatives in materials; advanced tool techniques; jig making; framing shapes & curves. Assignments will be project based requiring construction drawings, cut lists and deadlines.

- * A lab time of 3 hours/week is required
- * Enrollment is limited to 10 students
- * Permission of instructor required

TP202C&D Technical Direction Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

A seminar class with an emphasis on production concerns and communication. Students will be asked to question themselves and their peers in order to shape and reshape the concepts that are required to successfully complete a theatrical production. This class is an opportunity for students to both learn and teach.

- *May be repeated for credit

TP203 Fundamentals of Technical Direction

2 units / Semester I

The job of technical director consists of much more than the construction of sets. This class offers instruction in the “non-shop” aspects of technical direction including but not exclusive to material and labor budgeting, production organization, build drawings and job delegation.

TP210A Graduate Prop and Puppetry Shop Techniques/Woodworking

2 units / Semester I

A woodworking course for the graduate student in props or puppetry. Emphasis will be placed on tool use & joint construction for prop woodworking. The student will create a project from sketch through final build in order to practice & refine discussed methods. Required for all prop students, open to others with instructor permission.

TP210B Properties & Puppetry Shop Techniques/Fabric

2 units / Semester II

A fabric technique course for the graduate student in props or puppetry. Emphasis will be placed on skills used in theatrical upholstery. The student will be making a piped box cushion with zipper as well as a small diamond-tufted piece. Required for all prop students, open to others with instructor permission.

TP212 Statical Engineering for the Theater: Strength of Materials

3 units / Semester I

Statical Engineering of the Theater: Strength of Materials is a one-semester course that is designed to introduce theatrical designers and technicians to the fundamentals of statical engineering. The course includes loading analysis, geometric properties, wood beam and column design, steel beam and column design, and an introduction to truss design. Unlike traditional structural design courses offered by architectural or engineering departments, this course concentrates on the smaller wood and steel members that are used in theater. In addition, conservative simplifications are used when they are feasible. Proficiency in basic algebra and trigonometry is necessary.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

TP213A&B History of Theatrical Design & Technology

2 units / Semester I, II

Survey of the evolution of theatrical architecture, theatrical design, and technology from prehistory to the present. Focus of the course includes: recognition of the various periods in theatre architecture and the impact of the audience/performer relationship, understanding the relationship between theatrical styles and the political and religious movements of their time, and identifying the major contributors to and their impact on theatrical design and technology.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

TP214A&B Architectural Styles

2 units / Semester I, II

A two-semester sequence covering the history of architectural styles through the ages, focusing on the process of research for the theatrical designer. The exploration of architectural design as it was influenced by social, philosophical and political trends of the period.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

TP215 The Contemporary Playhouse

2 units / Semester II

In-depth discussion of design considerations in theater architecture, including acoustics, visibility, production styles, audience comfort and safety and code requirements. Course work will also include practices in programming, theater consulting and project management. Taught in alternate years.

TP216 Techniques of Design for Undergrads

2 units / Semester I

The techniques used in the process of design are explored by taking existing subject matter and expressing it in sketches, models, scale drafting and painting. This class is in preparation and a prerequisite for Scene Design I.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP220 Welding I

2 units / Semester I

It is a known fact that to weld one must do. This class offers both an explanation of welding through text and demonstration as well as intense hands on training. Processes covered include; GMAW, GTAW (both in carbon steel and Aluminum), Oxy-fuel and plasma cutting.

* Permission of Instructor required

TP225 Advanced Metalworking

2 units / Semester II

The course will expand on basic welding techniques to explore MIG and TIG welding, developing more complex shapes and exploring other ways to utilize metal in scenery.

* Prerequisite: TP220 or permission of instructor.

* Enrollment limited to 8 students.

TP302A Scene Design I: Working Inside the Box

3 units / Semester I

This is a basic introduction to the process of creating environments within a given space. Emphasis will be placed on developing skills needed to execute a design idea, including: the process of research, collage, thumbnail sketches, the sketch model and elevations.

TP302B Scene Design I: Working Inside the Box

3 units / Semester II

An exploration of the design possibilities inherent in various types of texts. Emphasis will be placed on developing ideas for the text and the space and on developing communication skills to enhance the student's ability to collaborate with fellow artists.

* Prerequisite: TP302A or permission of instructor.

TP305A&B Undergraduate Special Topics in Scene Design

2-4 units / Semester I, II

This class will be structured around the individual needs of the students enrolled on a semester basis. Emphasis will be based on continuing to expand the students' approach to expressing and completing design ideas. New projects will be initiated, as well as opportunities to rethink and rework projects from other semesters.

* Prerequisite: TP302 or permission of instructor.

TP306A&B Scene Painting

2 units / Semester I, II

This is a full year/two semester course addressing paint and other scenic treatments utilized in the production process. The differences between theater, film and video are also addressed. Heavily oriented towards practical skills, experiences and techniques (paint “lab” time is required). Deals with equipment, color theory, layout and scale, specific techniques and synthesis of skills to accurately reproduce sources both 2-D and 3-D.

- * Required of and preference given to MFA-1 Scenic Art and Prop students and MFA 1 Scene Design students
- * Limited enrollment, by permission of instructor

TP307A&B Advanced Scene Painting

3 units / Semester I, II

A smaller, more advanced class that can be repeated three times and will progressively explore complex and challenging scene painting techniques, materials and shop management models. The incorporation of historical fine art methods of rendering as well as individual projects designed to round out the student’s artistic training will be a primary focus.

- * Open to all students in the Institute.
- * Prerequisite: TP306 or permission of instructor.
- * Enrollment limited to 10 students
- * May be repeated for credit.

TP308A&B Production Design

3 units / Semester I, II

General introduction to the medium of film, stressing script analysis and breakdown using sketches, plans and models. Discussions will include color structure, camera angles, movement and special effects.

- * Enrollment limited to 6 students by permission of instructor.

TP309 Scene Painting for Theater Undergrads

2 units / Semester II

This is a one-semester class addressing paint and other scenic treatments utilized in the production process. Deals with applied textures, equipment, layout and scale. Specific techniques taught to support reproduction from 2 dimensional sources.

For undergraduate Theater design students and others.

- * By permission of instructor

TP400A Light Lab for Non-Majors

2 units / Semester II

The objective of Light Lab is to explore the phenomena of light in a practical workshop setting. Through individual and group projects, students will exercise the control of lighting’s properties (color, intensity, angle, and composition). A journal of lighting observations will be kept to develop the skill of seeing light. While the lab will utilize theatrical lighting equipment, no previous knowledge or experience with such equipment is necessary.

- * Enrollment limited to 16.

TP400B Light Lab for Lighting Designers

2 units / Semester I

The objective of Light Lab is to explore the phenomena of light in a practical workshop setting. Through individual design projects, students will exercise the control of lighting's properties (color, intensity, angle, and composition). A journal of lighting observations will be kept to develop the skill of seeing light, as well as a working vocabulary to discuss light.

* Required of and open only to Lighting Designers.

TP401A&B Lighting Design I

3 units / Semester I, II

TP401A Plot Making

The primary goal of this course is to create theatrical lighting plots and paperwork from a lighting idea. Students will begin the process of lighting design by formulating a lighting concept. Lighting ideas will worked out through extensive work-sheeting. A complete set paperwork, including lighting plot, section, hookup, instrument schedule, magic sheets, and shop orders shall then be generated from these ideas.

TP401B The Design Process

While "Plot Making" stresses the creation of theatrical lighting plots and paperwork, "The Design Process" focuses on the process of lighting design from the germination of the idea to final product. Students will design lighting for a theatrical event throughout the semester. Through class discussions and critiques, lighting concepts and ideas will be challenged and developed. The final project will be a completely documented lighting design. While this class is largely theoretical, students will explore their lighting ideas in the light lab as well.

* Prerequisite: TP401A Plotmaking and permission of instructor.

TP402A&B Advanced Lighting Design

3 units / Semester I, II

The work will consist of paper projects and Light Lab work, wrestling with issues that come out of real productions in real theaters. Analysis of designing for the unusual spaces that make up the work environments of professional designers: Thrust Stages, Arenas, Environmental Settings, and more complex Proscenium productions. Emphasis on presenting materials in keeping with the highest professional standards.

* Prerequisites: TP401A&B and permission of instructor.

TP406 Lighting Technology

2 units / Semester I

Lecture/demonstration leading to an in-depth understanding of energy and its transformation, the basic physics of electricity and light and the design and operation of systems for their control, the physiology of human perception of light and the interaction of colored light with colored surfaces. Electrical safety will be stressed.

* Receives Critical Studies credit.

TP407 Lighting Production Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

An ongoing weekly seminar required of all BFA1 and BFA2 lighting students. Topics will include weekly scheduling of crews, principles of organization and leadership, bidding, renting and purchasing of equipment, and developing lighting paperwork. The production managers and show lighting designers will attend as needed.

TP410 Advanced Light Lab

2 units / Semester II

Students (in small teams) will participate in a weekly series of exercises where they will be asked to light a specific moment from a selected theatre piece using a very limited amount of equipment. The final product will be analyzed and critiqued by the class and instructor for integrity of concept, composition, and technique. The class will also include periodic demonstrations on topics in lighting technology and the physical qualities of light in space

* Required of all MFA 1 Lighting Students

* Open to all MFA Design and Directing Students

TP450 Special Topics in Video Design and Technology

1-3 units / Semester I, II

TP450-01-Design

2 units / Semester I

This is a course that will focus on the art and technology of video in live performance, taught by guest artists. Areas of study will rotate each semester to cover the use of video in theater, dance, concerts and site-specific events. Credit will vary depending on length and focus of the specific class topic.

TP450-02-Software

2 units / Semester II

This class will embark on a rigorous study of the video programming language Jitter 1.6, a part of Cycling 74's Max/MSP/Jitter custom media coding environment. The student will learn the programming structure and coding techniques necessary to implement custom video software solutions to a large number of video presentation and real-time manipulation challenges now commonly faced in the task of designing video content and technical solutions for live performance environments. Students enrolling in this class are expected to be well-versed in digital video production techniques, digital video editing, and digital video content creation. The class will focus solely in the use of the Jitter coding environment and its applications to stage performances. No previous familiarity with Max, MSP or Jitter is required.

TP455 Video Engineering for Theatre & Live Events

2 Units / Semester I

An examination of the equipment and technology used in running video for a live event. Topics include projector technology; signal flow; screen options; signal routing and mixing; playback; live camera; video calibration and troubleshooting. Demonstrations and research will be large components in this course.

* Prerequisite - must have permission of instructor

TP500 Sound Design I

2 units / Semester II

Introduction to the sound design and production processes, such as script analysis, artistic and aesthetic choices, acoustics, equipment use/terminology, recording and assembly techniques.

* Prerequisite: TP501 or permission of instructor.

TP501 Sound Lab

2 units / Semester I

An introduction to the skills and techniques of sound design. Topics and hands on exposure will include studio procedure, analogue and digital recording, equipment overview, script analysis and design paperwork. Class instruction, examples and projects will culminate in the sound design for a scene of a selected play.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP520A,B,C Special Topics in Sound Design

2 units / Semester I, II

This class focuses on exploring the cutting edge resources available in sound design for the theater. Topics are selected each semester to highlight the particular needs of the present students and/or as a reflection of the current offerings of the professional theatrical environment around us. Students will experience an intense and specific study of a particular topic's relevance to the modern sound designer. Practical presentations and guest lectures as well as professional performances will make up the backbone of this course. TP520A will focus on technology. TP520B will focus on music.

* Prerequisite: TP500 or permission of instructor.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP525 Professional Sound Environments

2 units / Semester I, II

A start to finish, top to bottom, rags to riches seminar for students in their final year. Students will be exposed to the current theatrical scene and the world of professional sound design around them. Lectures, professionally-based design assistantships and first-hand exposure to the local examples of sound design craftsmanship make up the core of this class as it delves into an exploration of the business of sound design.

* Prerequisite: Permission of instructor required.

TP530A-D Advanced Sound Design I-IV

2 units / Semester I, II

For upper division undergraduate students who desire a more complex and challenging exposure to the creation of sound design for the theater. Class work will rely heavily on production and studio work and an exploration into cutting edge advances in the technology and art of sound design. In addition to lectures and discussions, students will be expected to produce lab assignments and design support for school of theater productions in the Design and Production program digital sound studio.

* Prerequisite: TP510A&B or permission of instructor.

TP550 Sound Design and Stage Multimedia

2 units / Semester II

An advanced overview of new technologies and integrated media applications for the traditional stage. Students will gain a hands-on knowledge of the advances in the audio and media worlds currently available to legitimate theatrical sound designers. Classroom activities will include assigned studio projects as well as faculty and guest lectures. Taught in alternate years.

* Prerequisite: TP510A&B or permission of instructor.

TP560 Vector Works

2 units / Semester I, II

Study of computer applications in the performing arts with particular emphasis on 3-D drafting, modeling and rendering, also creation and manipulation of symbol libraries and bills of materials.

* Permission of instructor required.

TP561 Advanced Vector Works

2 unit / Semester II

Advanced studies in the use of Vector Works for Performing Arts Design. Sections will be offered on light plots, sound plots, linked database and spreadsheets, customizing the interface and advanced tools.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP565 Digital Image Generation

2 units / Semester II

Advanced study of computer applications for the performing arts using both 2D and 3D modeling and rendering on the Mac/Windows platform. Project work will include modeling and simulated lighting of performance environments and animation.

* Prerequisite: TP560 and permission of instructor.

* Enrollment limited by available equipment, priority going to Design & Production students.

TP566A&B Special Topics in Computer Applications

2 units / Semester I, II

Techniques in design visualization using a variety of software programs.

* Prerequisite: Permission of instructor required.

TP568 Computer Applications for Managers

2 units / Semester I

A series of modules focusing on computer applications especially useful for managers and producers. Topics may include database management, Photo Shop, web page development, Excel and Power Point.

TP570 Isadora Programming

2 Units / Semester II

This is a course in programming video control systems using the software Isadora. Topics include basic and advanced video control patching; user interfaces; serial and midi control; content preparation; video cards and other important hardware; and interactive video control. Both the Windows and Mac platforms will be covered.

* Prerequisite: must have permission of instructor

TP575A-C Autocad

2 units / Semester I, II

Section A: A project-oriented approach to learning the fundamentals of drawing with AutoCAD. This course is primarily intended for entering Technical direction students, though also offered to designers and other Theatre students as space allows. The goal of the course is to facilitate communication between Technical Directors, Designers, Scenic Carpenters and the Production team and will be geared toward that end. We will be working with current versions of AutoCAD. Students will be encouraged to expand on the basic familiarity of the software gained in class lessons by applying it to specific projects in their métier. Students will learn to draw increasingly complex 2D objects; layout; dimensioning; scale and plotting.

* Permission of Instructor required.

* Maximum enrollment: 7

Section B: This course is a continuation of AutoCAD I and will explore 3D commands and modeling in AutoCAD. The focus will be on presentation, readability and accuracy of AutoCAD drawings. We will work toward fully rendered drawings, which can be saved in different formats.

* Prerequisite: AutoCAD I or permission of instructor.

* Maximum enrollment: 7

Section C: This course is intended for those with a solid command of AutoCAD fundamentals who wish to increase the speed, accuracy and amount of information in their drawings. This course will be focused on architectural layout; title blocks, templates, ground plans, elevations, sections, details, legends and notations. We will work toward a thorough visual “walk through” of a project that can be handed off as a complete set of build drawings.

* Prerequisite: AutoCAD II or permission of instructor.

* Maximum enrollment: 7

TP580 Solidworks

2 units / Semester II

An introduction to parametric solids modelling. Course will explore the use of this program as it relates to the construction/build process in Theater.

* Enrollment is limited to Technical Directors – Upper levels only.

* Maximum enrollment: 9

TP604A&B Costume Techniques I

2 units / Semester I, II

A beginning course which explores the various materials and techniques used in the realization of costume designs, including construction techniques, patterning and fitting skills. There will be a classroom component as well as a lab in the shop in order to increase skill levels.

* Priority given to costume students. Enrollment limited to 7.

TP605A&B Costume Techniques II

2 units / Semester I, II

Topics include drafting and draping of garment patterns and muslin fittings, and crafts techniques such as fabric manipulation and millinery, body padding, armor and mask-making.

* 2 hour lab required.

* Enrollment limited by permission of instructor.

TP607 History of Fashion

2 units / Semester I

Clothing has fulfilled a function beyond that of decoration or simple utility. Our survey of clothing modes will be in relation to the overall nature of civilizations and the people’s way of life. Highlight is placed on identifying and analyzing style revivals, along with the environment or event that may have prompted them. Central to the semester’s experience is the ongoing compilation of a Source Book that each participant creates from their own gathered images and readings, making a specific present-day link to every chapter of historic information discussed in class.

* Open to the Institute.

* Required of BFA Costume Designers. Earns critical studies credit.

TP609 Principles of Costume Design

2 units / Semester II

In depth study of costume design processes. Emphasis on analysis, research, development of visual approach, communication techniques and practical realities.

- * Permission of instructor required.
- * Required of BFA-3 Costume Designers.

TP610 Advanced Costume Design

2 units / Semester I, II

Advanced theoretical projects in costume design. Various projects will be assigned based on the needs of the students in the class. Emphasis will be on communicating the design concept through drawing, rendering and proportion.

- * Prerequisites: Costume Techniques I and Principles of Costume Design

TP630A&B Object Dress

2 units / Semester I, II

Theatrical costume design walks a line between fashion, history and art. Class is a lab for exploring alternative approaches to creating form using the body and clothing as a medium separate from the usual character/motivation/plot scenario. "Garments" will be designed and built using all materials available, common and uncommon. Students will be required to complete 2 projects of their choice.

- * Prerequisites: BFA 4 level, Principles of Costume Design and Advanced Costume Design or

TP700A&B Management Techniques

2 units / Semester I, II

A study of management techniques needed by all those who perform a management role in the performing arts. Topics include communication skills, team building, assertiveness, goal setting, time management, stress management and an overview of production organization.

- * Required of all undergraduate Management and Technical Direction students.
- * Open to all Theater students.

TP702A&B Stage Management Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

Discussion and critique of management principles through the examination of production problems faced by the stage managers on current projects. Extended discussion of general management techniques. Specific reading, writing or research projects addressing particular management functions will be assigned.

- * Required of Management students each semester.
- * May be repeated for credit.

TP703 Theater Management

2 units / Semester I

The study of management from the curtain forward, including all the points of contact with the potential audience and those elements needed to plan and develop a theater. Topics include developing a mission statement, planning a season, budgeting, box office and house management, grant writing, marketing and publicity. Taught alternate years.

- * Required of all undergraduate Management students.
- * Recommended for graduate Management students and Directors.
- * Taught alternate years.

TP704A Production Management I

2 units / Semester I

Lecture and discussion of production management techniques for live performance including examining the role of the Production Manager in a number of venues, including repertory theaters, road houses, and large special events. Will include material on creative problem solving, scheduling, planning, negotiating techniques, contracts and budgeting.

* Taught alternate years.

* Required for all Production Management students.

* Recommended for Stage Management and Technical Direction students.

TP704C Special Topics in Production Management

2 units / Semester I, II

A series of case studies designed to challenge the thinking of upper level production management students will be presented as projects. Some projects will be done in class, others out of class. Case studies may include organizing a national tour, establishing a budget for a co-production among regional theaters, creating a staff structure to produce a season of plays at a given venue, etc.

TP706A&B Basic Stage Management

2 units / Semester I, II

Two semester sequence. Emphasis is on the basics of stage management: developing the elements of the production book, blocking notation, cue notation and calling, etc. Discussion will focus on the stage manager's responsibilities and interrelation with the director, actors and the production team.

* Required of all undergraduate Management students.

TP707 Theatrical Unions

2 units / Semester II

Study of theatrical unions, focusing primarily on the various Equity handbooks.

* Required of BFA3 & MFA1 Stage Management students and MFA Production Managers.

* Recommended for Directors, Actors, and Producers.

TP709 Special Topics in Stage Management

1-2 units / Semester II

A class taught every other year exploring specific areas of stage management, such as opera, special events and touring. Guests will cycle in for short periods throughout the semester to present information about the challenges, opportunities and career path of each specialty. Some years it may focus on one specialty, some years on several.

* Open to BFA4 and MFA stage managers.

TP720 Communication Strategies

1 unit / Semester I

A one-semester course primarily designed for managers and producers. The class will have two foci: providing introductory practical training in technical protocols and systems and illustrating communications issues and strategies for team building.

TP800 Undergraduate Independent Study: D&P

1-8 units / Semester I, II

Under the direction of a specific faculty member, students will complete projects defined in a contractual agreement.

Graduate Curriculum:

TP801C Techniques of Design

2 units / Semester I

The techniques used in the process of design are explored by taking existing subject matter like the wall or chair in the classroom and expressing them in sketches, models, scale drafting and painting of the materials. This class is in preparation and a prerequisite for design methodology. Fall semester only.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP801D Design Methodology

2-4 units / Semester II

An exploration of dramatic structures, beginning with an investigation of Aristotle's Poetics. Students will discuss and design a play a week from the Greeks to Heiner Mueller. This class is taught in conjunction with the play analysis class which examines each text for its dramatic structure. The class focuses on the genesis of the visual context of the text. Students draw through the text or articulate overall instinctual responses that are communicated spatially through models, drawings or other methods developed by the student. Spring semester only.

* Prerequisite: Techniques of Design.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP803A&B Graduate Lighting Design I

3 units / Semester I, II

A detailed exploration of the lighting design process, and the development of a conceptual and collaborative approach to design and communication. Students will be assigned a variety of projects, both in theatre and dance (based on past or current professional productions) that will develop and strengthen skills in technique and the ability to form, articulate and organize strong and coherent lighting ideas that serve the material in a unique and compelling way. Students will be introduced to design techniques for a variety of venues, including proscenium, arena, thrust, and non-traditional spaces. The course will include an extensive examination of color theory, optics and photo-metrics, light observations, and an exploration of the application of light in related media, such as painting, photography and cinema.

TP804A&B Costume Design Seminar

3 units / Semester I, II

This is the foundation course for MFA 1 Costume Designers. It is an intensive exploration of the design process and the history of western dress/costume from the ancients up to the 19th century. Students will be required to read, analyze and design 8-10 plays over the course of 2 semesters.

* Required of MFA 1 Costume Designers.

* Open to others by permission of instructor.

TP805A&B Technical Direction Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

Ongoing forum for Technical Direction students to discuss, debate, critique and formulate personal approaches to their career. Current and previous production experiences serve as the basis for interaction. Specific discussion, research and writing projects will be assigned. Scene designers will attend while their show is in design and budget approval process.

* Required each semester for graduate Technical Direction students

* May be repeated for credit.

TP806A&B Graduate Management Seminar

2 units / Semester I, II

In-depth study of management principles and their application in performing arts management. The first semester will be an overview of stage management principles, focusing on the relationship of the stage manager to the director and production team. The second semester will focus on particular management principles and theories. The work will include readings, writing and class discussion.

* Required of all MFA-1 Stage and Production Managers.

* TP806B also required for Production Managers & Technical Directors.

TP807A&B Sound Design Seminar I

2 units / Semester I, II

Weekly round table seminar for discussing problems and critiquing work. Special topics include: new technologies, techniques, and industry related field trips.

TP810 Performance by Design

2 units / Semester I

Student-generated scenarios are developed into performances, object performances, or communicated visually through another medium such as a model, drawing, sculpture, painting, video, etc. Students investigate action and explore various performance possibilities by drawing through the scenario. In the process, we'll examine the techniques and theories of select artists and thinkers.

* Required of all MFA1 Designers and open to other grad students by permission of instructor.

TP812 Creative Listening for the Sound Designer

2 units / Semester I

Understanding the qualities of sound and music that influence the audience's perception. Knowing the factors that determine how one chooses appropriate sound in a dramatic context. Ear training exercises and class projects will develop the listening skills of the sound designer. Sound effects, ambiances, and music will be covered. Technical aspects include EQ, volume, mix, reverberation, distance, and location. Dramatic aspects include historical period, genre, degree of stylization, and social context.

* Prerequisite: TP500 & 510 or graduate standing.

* For upper division and graduate sound designers.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP820A-C Special Topics in Sound Design

2 units / Semester I, II

This class focuses on exploring the cutting edge resources available in sound design for the theater. Topics are selected each semester to highlight the particular needs of the present students and/or as a reflection of the current offerings of the professional theatrical environment around us. Students will experience an intense and specific study of a particular topic's relevance to the modern Sound Designer. Practical presentations and guest lectures as well as professional performances will make up the backbone of this course.

* Prerequisite: TP510A&B or permission of instructor.

TP825 Professional Sound Environments

2 units / Semester II

A start to finish, top to bottom, rags to riches seminar for students in their final semester. In a last ditch attempt to acclimate the possibly uninitiated, students will be exposed to the current theatrical scene and the world of professional sound design around them. Lectures, professionally based design assistantships and first hand exposure to the local examples of sound design craftsmanship make up the core of this class as it delves into an exploration of the business of sound design.

* Prerequisite: Permission of instructor required.

TP830A&B Open Dress

3 units / Semester I, II

The focus of this course is on the exploration of contemporary practices in the art of altering, refashioning and redefining the body image starting with early 20th century artistic, cultural and social philosophies. Topics vary each year. Students will be required to complete a variety of projects based on the focus of study.

* Required of MFA 2 Costume Designers

* Prerequisite: Costume Design Seminar

TP 831A&B Open Dress: Special Forces

3 units / Semester I, II

A hybrid (Art/Theatre) laboratory, merging approaches to gathering, structuring and constructing material for original work. This course seeks to blur demarcations between dress and architecture, allowing the aesthetics of the two disciplines to influence, inflect, carom and conflict with each other. We will come to this work in two ways: through the realm of other disciplines (light, movement, sound and philosophy (for example) and through the application of crafting techniques using given material challenges (i.e. inflatables, collapsibles, constructables, etc...)

* Note: this class is a practicum and is concerned with creating original work, which will have a formal institute-wide presentation upon completion.

* Open to graduate students throughout the Institute.

TP836 Lighting Design Seminar

.5 unit / Semester I, II

A periodic gathering of all MFA lighting students to view, discuss and critique student-designed work currently in pre-production or performance at the Institute. The class will also include presentations (sometimes led by guest lecturers) on specialized topics and issues of particular interest to students in the lighting program.

* To be taken each semester of residence

* May be repeated for credit

TP837 Architectural Lighting for the Theatrical Designer

3 units / Semester I

A look at the expanding definition of architectural lighting and its foray into the performing arena. Class will be a lecture, reading, discussion and project format. An examination of lighting for the home, office, restaurant, hotel, nightclub and themed entertainment will all be covered. Topics include collaborating with the architect, doing materials tests, architectural luminaries, necessary paperwork and contracts. A critical distinction will be drawn between theatrical lighting, in which you observe others, vs. architectural light, in which you participate. The class will include field trips to see key examples of architectural lighting throughout LA, lamp manufacturers' showrooms and designers' studios.

TP839 Special Topics in Lighting

1-3 units / Semester I, II

A one-semester course, taught either by CalArts faculty or guest artists focusing on a specialized area of lighting, such as concert lighting (including the use of moving fixtures), installations or architectural lighting. Credit will vary depending on length and focus of the specific class or workshop.

TP840A&B Foundations of Producing

2 units / Semester I, II

A survey of the philosophy, principles and practical application of producing. Topics include: commissioning projects, intellectual property issues, artist relationships, contracts, marketing and public relations and fundraising. Case studies will be used to explore these issues.

TP841 Producing Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

Ongoing forum for producing students to discuss, debate, critique and formulate personal approaches to producing. Current production experiences serve as the basis for this exploration.

* Required each semester.

TP842 The Law of Producing Theater

2 units / Semester II

A one-semester class for graduate producing students, reviewing the basic tenets of entertainment law. Topics include analysis of the elements of a contract, options, licensing, and commissioning, setting up a not-for-profit corporation and negotiation strategies.

TP845 Cultural Policy

2 units / Semester I

This course is an investigation of the products and processes of cultural policy. We will examine how cultural policies operate, implicitly and explicitly, in both the public and private sectors. Drawing on a range of comparative cases, locally and nationally, we will identify the values and interests that inform cultural policymaking. We will look at the roles that artists have played as participants in the creation of cultural policy and develop practical strategies for influencing such policies. Guest speakers from private foundations, public agencies, advocacy groups and cultural organizations and occasional fieldtrips will inform our investigation.

* Enrollment limited to 12 students.

* Open to the Institute with permission of instructor.

* Priority given to graduate students.

TP846 Arts Marketing

2 units / Semester II

Designed for graduate producing students, Marketing focuses on all the aspects of getting a project into the public eye: direct mail, advertising, press, and publicity. The class also considers the larger issues of audience development, institutional and project visibility, positioning within the community and considers the inherent contradictions in managing the arts.

TP848 Grant Writing

2 units / Semester I

A one-semester course for graduate producing students, Development and Fundraising is an introduction to the practical concerns of funding projects, both commercial and not-for-profit. The course will focus heavily on research, writing, and presentation skills, critical to seeking grants from funding agencies or investments from individuals or organizations.

TP850 Sound Design and Stage Multimedia

2 units / Semester I

An advanced overview of new technologies and integrated media applications for the traditional stage. Students will gain a hands-on knowledge of the advances in the audio and media worlds currently available to legitimate theatrical sound designers. Classroom activities will include assigned studio projects as well as faculty and guest lectures.

* Prerequisite: Sound Design I or permission of instructor.

TP851 Sound Design and Interactive Multimedia

2 units / Semester II

An advanced overview and studio practicum of the relationship between the acquired tools of the advanced sound designer and new world multimedia. Students will apply their background in theatrical sound design to related audio and visual mediums of video, film, CD Rom, advanced music production and other related integrated disciplines. Offered alternate years.

* Enrollment limited to 4 students.

* Prerequisite: TP510A&B or permission of instructor.

TP856 Production Management II

2 units / Semester II

This class is designed to build on the Production Management for the Theater Class. The student will explore the philosophies of production management processes and procedures, as well as learn to identify, develop and maintain key relationships. The student will learn how to set up and run production meetings, build and track budgets and develop schedules. We will be using the 1910 translation of "The Art of War," by 6th century military strategist Sun Tzu and a 2001 translation "The Art of War for Managers" by Gerald A. Michaelson adapted from the original text. There are many things to be learned from the basic principles outlined in the text for managing assets, deploying resources, managing the interactions between disciplines.

TP858 Budgeting

2 units / Semester II

Developing real world budgets drawn from CalArt's productions and set in a LORT Season for a regional theater. Each student is required to select a production, place it in a season calendar with a negotiated length of run. Each student is required to research the necessary union rates, applicable work rules and royalties, etc. that apply. A budget format is provided by the instructor and the students build a budget for their production. Final project is the completion of the budget which includes analysis of expense to income. In addition we involve producing faculty, design and technical faculty to instruct on specific elements critical to defining expenses.

* Required of producers and production managers.

* Recommended for technical directors and stage managers.

TP861A Special Topics in Technical Direction

1-2 units / Semester I, II

An exploration of various specialized areas of technical direction, such as safety, specialized construction problems, mechanical design and engineering, and sculptural materials. May include guest speakers or field trips, depending on the areas of study. Topics will rotate.

- * Enrollment limited to 10 students.
- * Permission of instructor required.
- * Prerequisites: TP203 and either TP202 or TP805
- * May be repeated for credit

TP861B Special Topics in Properties

1-2 units / Semester I, II

This course for MFA students will focus on the art & technology of theatre props & puppetry as presented by a series of guest artists. Each artist will introduce topics related to their particular areas of expertise & will cover specialty materials, tools & construction techniques. There will be demonstrations & lab opportunities for the student to have hands-on time with these specialists. Required for all prop students, open to others with instructor permission.

- * Permission of instructor required
- * May be repeated for credit

TP861C Special Topics in Scene Painting

1-2 units / Semester I, II

This course will focus on the art and technology of scene painting as applied to theater scenic designs in live performance taught by guest artists and scenic art faculty. Special attention will be given to specialty materials, tools and techniques in workshop settings and field trips to related venues.

- * Permission of instructor required
- * May be repeated for credit

TP862A&B Static Engineering for the Theater Strength of Materials

3 units / Semester I, II

Structural Design for the Stage is a two semester course which is designed to introduce theatrical designers and technicians to the fundamentals of static engineering. The course includes loading analysis, geometric properties, wood beam and column design, steel beam and column design, and an introduction to truss design. Unlike traditional structural design courses offered by architectural or engineering departments, this course concentrates on the smaller wood and steel members which are used in theater. In addition, conservative simplifications are used when they are feasible. Proficiency in basic algebra and trigonometry is necessary.

TP863 Rigging for Theater and Life

2 Units / Semester I

This class will teach both basic and advanced rigging principles with an emphasis on theatrical and entertainment rigging. Class materials will be based on an industrial model with labs offering hands on experience. Students will learn about rigging hardware, load calculations, professional etiquette and protocol and safety procedures. Students taking this class must have a basic understanding in basic algebra and trigonometry.

- * Permission of instructor required

TP868 Technical Design

2 units / Semester I, II

It is part of a Technical Director's job description to constantly perform feats of impossibilities and each TD must be prepared to do so. This class is offered to MFA Technical Direction students as a continuing study of the impossible. Through case studies and hands on constructions, TDs will be asked to explore techniques, materials, presentation styles, abstract ideas and thoughts.

* Permission of Instructor required

* May be repeated for credit

TP870 Scenic Art Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

On-going forum for MFA Scenic Art students to discuss, debate, critique and formulate personal approaches to their career. Current and previous production experiences serve as the basis for interaction. Specific discussion, research and writing projects will be assigned.

* Required for all graduate scenic artists.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP871 Prop Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

On-going forum for MFA students in Property Design & Management to discuss, debate & critique approaches to production issues & to formulate professional approaches to their career. Current & previous production & management experiences serve as the springboard for interaction & problem solving.

* Required for all graduate prop managers.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP872 Advanced Prop Design

2 units / Alternate years

An examination of all things PROPS. The exploration of this elusive area of production will include: the process of how to communicate your ideas to colleagues through research, sketches, clip books and drafting; how to conceptualize props and decor based on the production design; the history of interior design and how it relates to set dressing, shopping for fabric, treasures and junk!

TP900 Graduate Independent Study: D&P

1-8 units / Semester I, II

Under the direction of a faculty member, students will complete projects defined in a contractual agreement.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP902C&D Special Topics in Design

4 units / Semester I, II

Guest or CalArts faculty design a class around a topic of their choosing.

* Open to all graduate students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP903A&B Graduate Lighting Design II

3 units / Semester I, II

Continuation of project-based study of the lighting design process. Students will explore productions of greater complexity, including multi-set plays, opera, ballet and musicals. Emphasis on scene-by-scene storyboarding and organization of lighting ideas for complex and multi-layered productions. The course of study will include integration of automated lighting and other technologies into the lighting design vocabulary. Through readings and research and periodic guest lecturers, students will gain an exposure to the design process of several leading practitioners of the craft. Whenever possible, students will be given the opportunity to assist his/her mentor on a professional production outside the institute.

TP906 Advanced Graduate Management Seminar

2 units / Semester I, II

Advanced in-depth study of management practices and principles and their application in performing arts management. Topics will rotate, sometimes taking the form of individual or small group study of a particular topic or issue.

TP907A&B Sound Design Seminar II

2 units / Semester I, II

Round table seminar for discussing problems and critiquing work in the sound area. Special topics include new techniques and industry related field trips.

TP912A Advanced Properties & Puppetry Techniques/Movement

2 units / Semester I, II

An advanced class for the MFA student that will explore fabrication & construction techniques with emphasis on movement. The student will design & build a moveable toy or automata from research to sketch to final object. Students will be encouraged to explore & play with different materials to realize their vision & expand their skills. Required for all prop students, open to others with instructor permission.

TP912B Advanced Properties & Puppetry Techniques/Transformation

2 units / Semester I, II

An advanced class for the MFA student that will concentrate on the transformation of objects & expansion of visual aesthetic. The student will design & build an object that through manipulation will become something else. This class will encourage creative use of materials & problem solving as well as sharpen skills & techniques in a wide-ranging manner.

TP913 Advanced Prop Design & Set Decoration

2 units / Semester I

An examination of all things Props. The exploration of this elusive area of production will include: the process of how to communicate your ideas to colleagues through research, sketches, clip books and drafting; how to conceptualize props and décor based on the production design; the history of interior design and how it relates to set dressing, shopping for fabric, treasures and junk!

TP920A Open Studio

4 units / Semester I

A master class in design. Assignments will focus on a series of both individual and group advanced theoretical design projects which are designed to challenge each student intellectually and visually. Additional directed study hours will be required. The student is expected to complete a graduate level portfolio through the work in this course.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP920B Closure

4 units / Semester II

Students in their final semester of graduate studies complete projects from throughout their entire tenure at the school. It provides an opportunity to return to projects that were inspiring but not finished to a level that communicates fully the design. Large finished models and other expressive materials are created. Often students experience the pleasure of having more mature ideas that influence the entire work. Through the work in this course, the student is expected to complete a graduate level portfolio.

* Open to all students in the Institute by permission of instructor.

TP927A&B Sound Design Seminar III

2 units / Semester I, II

Weekly round table seminar in the final year for discussing problems, critiquing work and covering special topics as dictated by the needs of the current students.

TP940 Advanced Case Studies in Producing

3 units / Semester I, II

A two-semester discussion session for graduate producing students, based on current and on-going issues in producing and arts management. Sample topics include the Corpus Christi controversy, the "Sensation" exhibit at the Brooklyn Museum of Art, and the artists' boycott of the Spoleto Festival.

TP942 Special Topics in Producing

1-3 units / Semester I, II

A one-semester class for graduate producing and management students in specialized areas such as budgeting, accounting, and project management.

* Enrollment limited to 8.

TP943 Sustainable Theater

2 units / Semester II

We will focus on integrating ecologically sustainable processes and technologies into professional artistic practice with an emphasis on theater and the built in problem of its temporary nature. The course will be divided between research on contemporary issues of sustainability through reading, visiting practitioners and field trips; and the development of projects proposing ways to alter or replace our current practices. The course will culminate in a presentation of research and proposals to the larger CalArts community.

* Open to graduate students from throughout the Institute.

* Open to undergraduates by permission of instructor

TP950 Production Management Seminar

1 unit / Semester I, II

Ongoing forum for production managers to discuss, debate and critique issues and problems related to current productions. Through these discussions and production experiences, the students will begin to develop their personal approach to production management.

* Required of Production Management students each semester.

* May be repeated for credit.

TP980 Graduate Internship

4 units / Semester I, II

A one-semester internship for graduate management, producing and technical direction students. The internship will be taken in the student's 4th or 5th semester of study. Determination of time frame and approval of the internship site will be at the discretion of the mentor. Focus of the internship will be on the development of skills and experience in one or more of the following areas: leadership and management abilities in a professional environment; communication and interpersonal skills; and organizational, technical or production skills. It is expected that the internship will provide a meaningful artistic experience while expanding the student's frame of reference.

TP983 Graduate Lighting Design III

3 units / Semester I, II

Emphasis on design of commercial and large scale projects, including Broadway musicals, opera and national touring productions. Work produced in this class will be geared toward developing the student's particular area of interest. Course of study will also include a concentration on professional practice, including portfolio, resumes, assisting, contracts, union membership, agents, and any other pertinent aspects related to the 'business' of lighting design.
